

BAROSCOPE

Reference : BAROSCOPE

An experiment demonstrates the upward thrust that supports a body immersed in the air. The device consists of a balance beam carrying at one of its ends a polystyrene ball, and on the other a sliding weight to balance the balance. Once the vacuum is established, the atmospheric pressure exerted on the polystyrene ball disappears and the equilibrium is broken.