

Reference : LOGNER

Institution license

Reflexarc allows an active study of the fundamental properties of the nervous system by proposing an approach very close to the actual experiment on animals.