

THERMAL CONDUCTIVITY APPARATUS

Reference : THERMOCOND

Device composed of an insulating support on which are fixed different metal blades of identical length. Each blade is equipped with a liquid crystal thermometer to display the temperature of the blade. Immersed in boiling water for example, it is possible to visualize the temperature rise of each blade without an additional thermometer